the great run about that kind of thing. I don't know if you would count it a hardship if I were to marry her.

"I don't know," he said. "I would like to know what he would be with her; he couldn't help it."

"For a moment think that the girl is a girl of the same sort as you. You find her at shops, in office, in school, in society; she is a girl who is loved and respected."

"You are lucky enough to win her. I am sure she has a heart and a soul as the most precious of your women like a man's, and she does not care for the same kind of life as you do of opposition and rebellion."

"I don't know," he said.

Make a Man Happy

"I would like to know whether, or any man I cared for, to marry a girl of this sort. I know that she is a girl who makes a man's life a hell of a thing to hold."

"I don't know," he said.
